In sociology and social psychology, an ingroup is a social group to which a person psychologically identifies as being a member. By contrast, an outgroup is a social group with which an individual does not identify. For example, people may find it psychologically meaningful to view themselves according to their race, culture, gender, age, or religion. It has been found that the psychological ...

What do you want to be when you grow up?. When I was about 8 years old, I wanted to be a detective, just like Nancy Drew! I wanted to gather clues, figure out who dunnit, and catch the crook using a clever plan! Of course, reading my About page, you'll see that I've always had maths related jobs, but have only used detective skills in one way; in figuring out which of my four children ...
