For coherence theories in general, truth requires a proper fit of elements within a whole system. Very often, though, coherence is taken to imply something more than simple logical consistency; often there is a demand that the propositions in a coherent system lend mutual inferential support to each other.

The problems with mercury have been known for decades, and it's not just mercury. Aluminum does many of the same things that mercury does. Although according to the University of Calgary video, aluminum does not cause the same level of damage to the microtubules of neurons, this does not mean aluminum is safe.
